

PRIVACY POLICY:

Your privacy is very important to us, and we respect and honor your concerns about maintaining strict privacy. Any information that you divulge to this web site is kept in strict confidence.

We want to be very clear – we will not obtain personal identifying information about you when you visit our site, unless you choose to provide such information to us through e-mail or by ordering our products on line.

We do not add you to our mailing list unless you explicitly request to receive additional information from us. We will not sell, rent or share our mailing lists. We keep our own mailing list of people, who contact us, so we may provide information to you in the future. However, we do not provide this list to anyone else. When we collect information when you purchase our materials, we do not share that information with anyone else - we keep it in strict confidence.

We do not enable cookies and we do not collect personal identifiable information at our web site, unless you choose to give it to us. Even when you choose to give us information, we keep that confidential as to our own purposes.

If you wish to e-mail us with your questions or concerns, we will keep that information private. If you are comfortable in allowing us to share that information with any other attorney or mediator to help you,, we will always ask you first, and will abide by your wishes and not divulge information that you do not wish us to share. You are in control of what information you provide to us and we do not make that information made known to anyone else, unless you specifically allow us to do so with permission.

Our server only collects information about the date and time in which our web site was accessed and the Internet address of the web site from which you linked to our site. We use this information to measure the number of visitors to our site and to help make our site more useful to visitors.

If you have any questions or concerns about our privacy protection of your personal information, please feel free to contact us